Moisturising oil

Propythium Moisturising Oil:

A natural fungal treatment for dogs, cats & horses

Background: First discovered by researchers investigating how roots protected themselves in the soil, Pythium oligandrum is a microscopic algae that works via mycoparasitism. It uses other fungi for sustenance and survival. It attacks those organisms, extracting nutrients such as nitrogen, carbon, and nutrients for reproduction, and killing the organism in the process. It then creates zoospores that actively seek out more of that fungi and it's spores.

Beyond mycoparasitism, Pythium further secretes enzymes that aid its consumption of fungi but also curb bacterial growth so they are not disturbed in the process.

Once resources deplete, Pythium oligandrum encapsulates and soon leaves its host, at which point normal microflora returns.

Ingredients: Olea Europaea Oil, Silica, Pythium oligandrum, Tocopherol, Eucalyptus Globulus Oil.

Uses: For topical fungi, yeast infections of dogs, cats and horses. Suitable for dry, sensitive, chapped or eczema-prone skin. Also suitable for those suffering atopic skin conditions or allergies.
